

IMail Server Celebrates Fifteen Years

AUGUSTA, GA--(Marketwire - August 5, 2009) - IMail Server, a leading messaging solution, noted its 15th year anniversary today. Ipswitch CEO and founder Roger Greene started with a goal to develop affordable software that would offer practical solutions and benefit the real business needs of network administrators and users of IT technology in organizations of all sizes. "IMail Server has accomplished those goals," said Tripp Allen, president of Ipswitch Messaging Division. "We remain focused now more than ever on helping organizations save both time and money with innovative messaging solutions. Over these past 15 years, IMail Server has maintained the company's vision by offering quality messaging products and services. Today we are proud to say that IMail Server has built a strong organization and market share as a solid email server that is both reliable and secure," said Allen.

Since its inception, IMail Server has helped small and medium sized businesses meet challenges with simple and flexible solutions that include all the collaboration features required to drive businesses forward. Ipswitch's consistent growth and popularity was most recently recognized when IMail Server received an Editor's Choice award by PCMag.com.

"Our business is built on providing value," said Roger Greene. "After fifteen years of servicing millions of users, IMail Server still focuses on technology solutions that reduce overhead and supports the needs of small and medium sized businesses. In recent years, as messaging needs have become increasingly sophisticated, IMail Server has met those needs in a package that is simple to administer," said Mr. Greene.

Mr. Greene also commented that this special anniversary provides IMail Server the opportunity to acknowledge the impact of its customers, selling partners and employees. "As we look back over the past 15 years, we realize that we have a lot to be thankful for and many reasons to say thank you. Our success is due to the talented people we hire, our business partners and the valuable customers we serve. Our sincere thanks go out to all of you. We are proud of what IMail Server has accomplished, and we are excited about the opportunities in the messaging market going forward."
